COMPLY WITH THE EPR REQUIREMENTS

WHAT IS THE EPR?

A LEGAL REQUIREMENT

The Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) principle, in effect since January 1st 2007, requires companies to manage waste prevention and the end-of-life of new Textile, Household linen and Footwear, that they manufacture, import, or sell on the French market for consumer use (article L 541-10-3 of the French Environment code).

Marketers must:

- either register with the approved eco-organisation, Refashion;
- or implement an individual system that meets the requirements of the specifications document in force.

This individual system must be approved by a ministerial order.

Am I subject to the EPR?

WHO IS REFASHION?

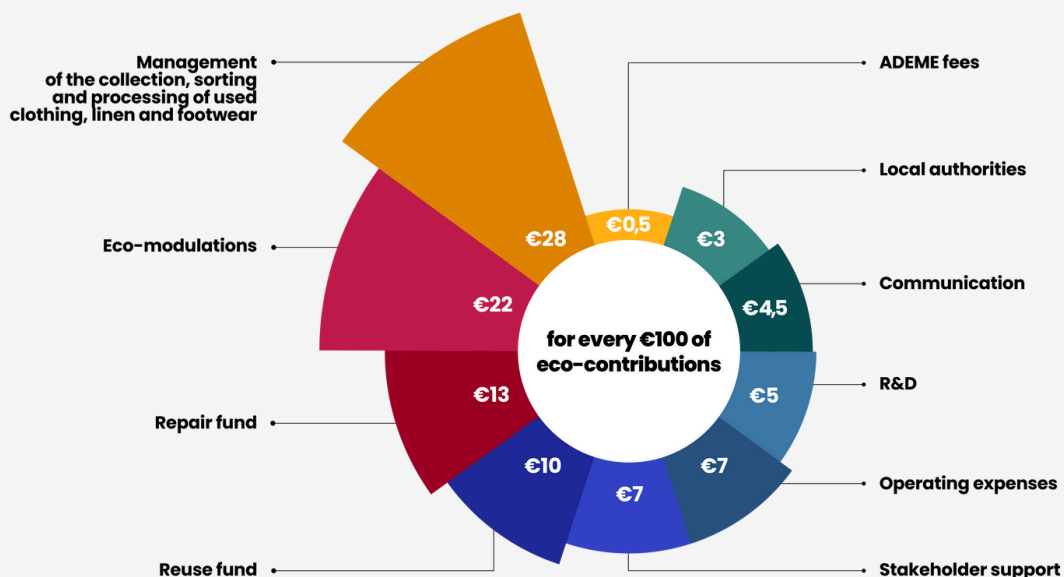

ECO-ORGANISATION FOR THE CLOTHING, HOUSEHOLD LINEN AND FOOTWEAR SECTOR

Created in 2008 and French authority-approved, Refashion is the eco-organisation for the Clothing, Household linen and Footwear sector.

Refashion is a private, non-profit organization, 100% funded by the eco-fees paid by marketers, to manage the prevention and end-of-life of used textile, household linen and footwear.
